Two Students Win High Honors

SAMMY CARPENTER

RUTH HOLBROOK

New President and Vice President Will Take Office Tomorrow Night

Student Senate Leaders Are Sammy Carpenter, Ruth Holbrook.

Tomorrow night, April 14, Sammy Carpenter will be installed in the Student Senate as the new president of the student body, and Ruth Holbrook will take office as the new vice president. Sammy and Ruth will replace Homer Long and Freddie Davis who have successfully completed a year of efficient managemen.

After a stalemate at the polls, March 22, Sammy Carpenter emerged victorious at the election, March 24, when he defeated Charles Newton and Bill Elam for the office of presidency.

Campaign Is Vigorous

Following a student convention, March 16, when the five candidates for president and vice president of the Student Senate were named, a vigorous campaign was held on the campus. With candidates of the Greek and Independent organizations competing, enthusiasm for the election was high. Emphasized by signs, balloons, campaign speeches, and pictures of the candidates, the campaign was challenging, as proved by the necessity of the second election to name the president.

During the first election, March 22, Ruth Holbrook was elected vice president by the student body when she defeated Lucille Cockayne. This election also eliminated one of the candidates for the presidency.

President Is From Bolckow

President Carpenter, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Carpenter, Bolckow, is working for a B. S. degree with a major in chemistry and a minor in mathematics. He is a member of various campus organizations in which he takes an active part. Among them are Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity, Dramatic Club, and Alpha Psi Omega. He has held the office of secretary in the latter organization.

Sammy likes to swing a golf club or a tennis racket. He also enjoys football and basketball games.

Vice President Holbrook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lorin Holbrook, Oregon, is working for a B. S. degree in secondary education with a major in commerce and a minor in Spanish. A member of two honorary organizations on the campus, Kappa Delta Pi and Pi Omega Pi, Ruth is also the president of the Delta Sigma Epsilon sorority. She likes volleyball games and especially likes to dance.

Five Representatives Are Sworn Into Senate

Dennis Shell, Frank Johnson, Dorothy Adams, Manley Vance and Betty Jean Martin are the new Senators sworn into office March 10.

Helen Fisher was elected secretary; Robert Guthland, elected treasurer.

Mack Miller asked the cooperation of all Senators in enforcing the restriction that no food or drinks be brought into the Bearcat Den during regular school hours.

Robert Guthland, Fred Davis, and Homer Long were nominated by the Senate to represent the group in the Freshman Orientation meeting. Another will be chosen by Mrs. Gee to represent the Senate.

Red Cross Will Be Here!

Red Cross representatives will be on the campus, April 27, with their Bloodmobile. From 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. on that day, students who are physically able are asked to contribute for the veterans at hospitals in Excelsior Springs and Leavenworth. Members of the Alpha Phi Omega fraternity are soliciting donors.

Maryville Will Have Naval Unit

Building Will Be Rented, Remodeled to Meet Needs of Navy.

Mr. Foster Announces Plans

Members of Electronic Welfare Unit Will Study Fire Control Radio, Radar, Sonar.

Maryville is soon to have a Naval Reserve Electronic Warfare unit, according to a recent announcement by Mr. R. P. Foster, College registrar and voluntary Navy recruiter.

Members of the unit will use Navy equipment in studying radio, radar, sonar, and fire control. Permanent ratings in these fields will be given to qualified men.

Navy Installs Radio

Training center for the organization will be a part of the building occupied by the Lloyd Manufacturing Company. The building will be rented by the Navy and remodeled to fit the needs of the reservists. Plans call for extensive improvements of the interior and the installation of a radio antenna mast.

Radio equipment valued at forty to fifty thousand dollars will be installed in the armory. Included will be the following: high frequency transmitter for speech or code; semi-portable transmitter and receiver; portable transmitter and receiver; low frequency receiver; radio direction finder; complete radar set; seven telegraphic typewriters; complete code practice equipment; and tools, test equipment and spare parts for the repair and maintenance of all electronic equipment. More equipment will be added from time to time as needed.

Men Work With Great Lakes

Meetings will be held every Monday evening from 7 to 9. The first few meetings will probably consist of classroom instruction and movies, but as soon as the equipment is ready the men will take turns operating it. At least three radiomen will be handling messages transmitted by the naval radio station at Great Lakes. All men will be qualified for this work as soon as possible. Other men will operate and repair the remaining equipment and give instruction to new men. Attendance at these meetings will be on a voluntary basis. Uniforms will be furnished by the Navy.

All reservists are urged to participate in a two-week active duty training cruise each summer, but this is optional. A man can be called to active duty only at his request or during a national emergency. Men on active duty receive full pay and travel allowance.

Veterans Use Old Rating

Under present law, men on a volunteer status cannot receive pay for attendance at weekly drills, though such service does count toward retirement. No official announcement has been made, but present indications are that after July 1 all volunteers will be paid at the rate of one day's pay for each drill attended.

Navy veterans can join at their old rate. Veterans of other services, if qualified, may receive equivalent ratings. Non-veterans are also invited to enlist in the Naval Reserve. Veterans and non-veterans who hold FCC amateur radio operator licenses can qualify for radio ratings by passing an examination covering the military requirements for petty officers.

Equipment May Help in Emergency

Radio transmitters and receivers will be available at all times for use by reservists who hold amateur operator licenses, and the men will be urged to take advantage of this opportunity to increase their skill as operators and technicians. Radio equipment and volunteer operators will also be made available in any emergency where radio communication is required.

Anyone interested in participating in this activity should contact Mr. Foster as soon as possible.

Horace Mann Will Hold Parents' Night, April 21

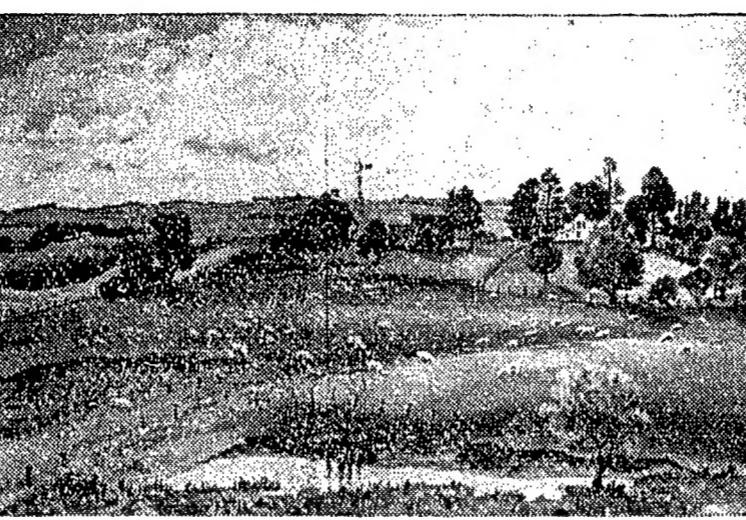

Horace Mann laboratory school will observe its twelfth annual Parents' Night on April 21. The event is being planned by the student council and faculty.

Events of the evening will be similar to those of previous years. The Horace Mann building will be open so that parents of the students may see the exhibits by the various departments. At 8:15 a program will be presented in the College auditorium. Later, refreshments will be served in Room 113 at the Administration building.

April 25!

High School Seniors! April 25 is your day to visit and inspect the College. Campus clubs and organizations will entertain you. New sights will interest you. Make it a date!

College Presents Art Exhibit

SHEEP PASTURE (On Route 71) by ADOLF DEHN.—Missouri pasture of gently undulating land, neat small farmhouse, big red barn, grazing stock is an integral part of the landscape from the rich prairies which roll on over the border into Iowa. . . . "Great pastoral wealth" was promised to immigrants and settlers in a guide book published in 1883, and the promise came true.

An exhibit of original paintings entitled "Missouri, the Heart of the Nation," depicting the natural beauties, the industrial activities, and the cultural characteristics of the state are on display at the College, Monday through Saturday, in the Administration building, until April 25.

Dr. Jones has arranged for the exhibit to be shown to the public from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. on Sundays, April 17 and 24, as well as during the week.

The pictures were painted on commission of Scruggs-Vandervoort-Barney, Inc., St. Louis, by fourteen leading artists of the United States, five of whom are Missourians. The scenes painted come as near local communities as St. Joseph and Kansas City. One is a farm scene between Maryville and the Iowa line.

It is our hope," says Dr. J. W. Jones, president of the College, in speaking of the exhibit, "that visitors on the campus will see and enjoy the pictures and that they will carry our invitation to others to see the exhibit. It is an opportunity that does not come often to the people of Northwest Missouri to see such a large collection of original paintings by good artists and at the same time see their state as artists see it."

About one hundred pictures, mostly oil paintings, are in the collection. The fine collection of original paintings owned by the College is also on display. This collection, though featured while the loan-exhibit is here, may be seen at any time in Room 207 of the Administration building.

Two Presidents Emeritus Visit Arkansas Colleges

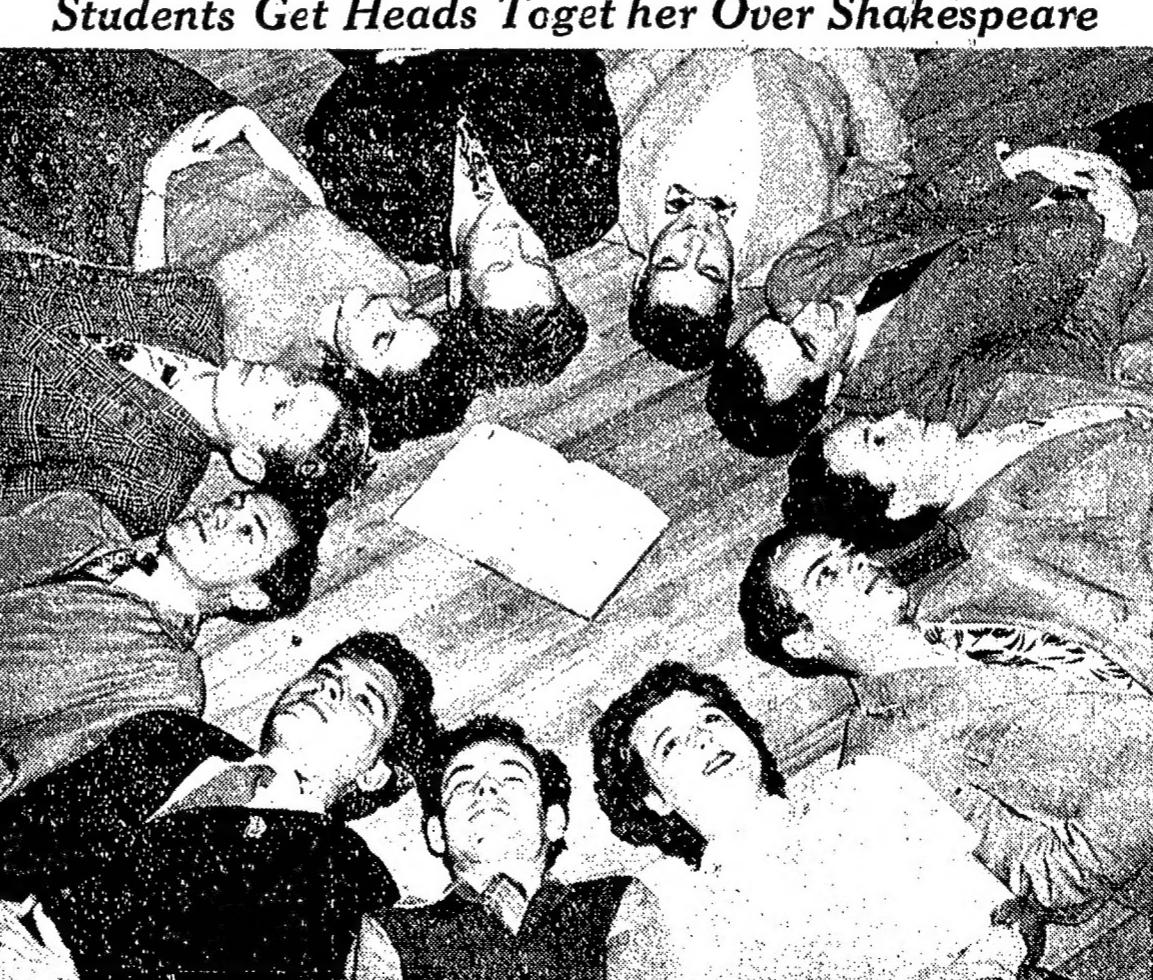

President Emeritus Uel W. Lamkin and President Emeritus Walter F. Morgan, McComb, Illinois, went to Arkansas April 9, to visit colleges and universities for the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education.

President Emeritus Lamkin and President Emeritus Morgan visited Conway and Arkadelphia and the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville. They also went to Little Rock to meet with the State Board of Education and to Pine Bluff to visit the school for negroes.

Dr. Hake Is In Hospital

Dr. J. W. Hake, chairman of the physical science department, has been ill for several weeks. He is in the St. Francis Hospital, Maryville.

Students Get Heads Together Over Shakespeare

Preparing for their parts in "The Taming of the Shrew," reading counter-clockwise, beginning slightly to the left of 12, the members of the cast are Gremio, Bill Elam; Bianca, Betty Hudson; Blondeloa and first servant, Bruce Walkup; Petruchio, Charles Newton; and Vincentio, Wayne Richards. Close to 6 is Tranio, Verlin Tompkins. Continuing counter-clockwise are Katherine, Carolea Frichard; Pedant; and second servant, Jim Hill; Hortensio, Bob Lister; Lucentio, Monty Pitner; and Baptista, Jim Pool. Others in the cast are Grumio, Herbert Awe; Sly and Peter, Jack Delay; Page, Shirley Burton; Hostess, Lou Hazelton; and Curtis and third servant, Jesse Masters.

Shrew Becomes Tame in Big Play

Shakespearean Characters Live Again, Prepare Auditorium Visit.

Mr. Robert Gee Directs

Scenes Around Water Fountain Will Surprise and Delight With Boisterous Action.

The shrew grows tamer, the hair grows longer, and the cast grows weaker, but "hap what hap may" on April 28 and 29, seventeen actors and actresses will take their places on the College stage in their presentation of Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew."

Mr. Robert F. Gee, director of the play, has ordered the costumes, with which the cast will have a week to work. The color and gaiety of the robes will add greatly to the story of boisterous love and boisterous action.

Play Is a Challenge

Many obstacles have presented themselves during the rehearsal period. The play in itself is a challenge to the director and the cast in that it involves the telling of a story in seventeenth century language to a twentieth century audience.

One thing that the audience must learn is that they can expect anything at any time. Characters come in and out of the play with speeches ranging from long Latin greetings to a slang approaching modern usage. Also there are times when a character will stand on stage for scene after scene just for the triumphal recognition of one line.

Fountain Is Important

An important property in the play is a fountain, placed in the center of the stage. It is almost as much a part of the play as the actors themselves. People stand on it, jump over it, sit on it, and make love on it. The characters rant, rave, and run over the stage, but the fountain remains, ready for anything.

Too Many People Have the Wrong Conception of Shakespeare and His Plays

Too many people have the wrong conception of Shakespeare and his plays. There is nothing stuffy or serious about "The Taming of the Shrew." It is a play in which the actors enjoy telling their story. The fact that the play is written in poetry does not mean that it is an assignment of English assignment; it is a light, carefree interpretation of a life and language, now a part of history.

We Learn

In the fourth grade we learn that Shakespeare lived, in the eighth grade we learn that he is boring, in high school we learn that he is dead, but in college we finally realize that maybe "the old boy" had something after all.

Now there are but two more short weeks in which the cast can prepare. What has been four months of grueling experiences, however, will be about two and one-half hours of enjoyment for the audience.

Band Will Have New Uniforms

Mr. John L. Smay, acting head of the music department, has announced that members of the Board of Regents have authorized the purchase of new uniforms for the College band. The new uniforms are to be ordered as soon as possible and will be available for the fall quarter.

Yearbook Officials Are Chosen

JEWELL RICE

RICHARD GORDON

Supervising Students Will Choose Theme, Start Work on Annual.

Mr. Howard Ringold, sponsor of the Tower, has announced that the editor and business manager for the next yearbook have been selected. The editor is Jewell Rice, a sophomore from Maysville; the business manager is Richard Lee Gordon from Hopkins.

The policy of the Tower committee in electing the editor is to appoint a student who has shown ability by working on the yearbook staff. The committee is composed of a business adviser, Mr. Ringold, and literary adviser, Miss Dorthie C. Hall, appointed by President J. W. Jones. Others on the committee are Homer Long, president of the Student Senate; Paul Moyer, president of the Junior Class; Joyce Wehrli, president of the Sophomore Class; Helen Fisher and David Arthur, editor and business manager of this year's Tower; and John Parham and Jack Summers, editor and business manager of last year's Tower.

Editor Will be Selected

Editor Jewell Rice and Business Manager Richard Gordon will choose the remainder of the staff with the approval of Mr. Ringold. It is expected that during this quarter the editor and business manager will select the theme and make plans for next year's Tower. This action will make it possible for the Tower to be assembled early next year.

Jewell was art editor of the "49er" Tower this year. He was a member of the Northwest Missourian staff during his freshman year. He is working toward a B. S. degree in secondary education with a major in fine arts and a minor in French.

Editor Served in Korea

Jewell, a member of the Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity, served in the army in Korea during the war. In leisure hours he likes to hunt and fish.

Richard is working for a B. S. degree in secondary education with a major in commerce. He likes to play basketball and enjoys corresponding with a friend in Southern Rhodesia, South Africa. Dick was valedictorian of his class in high school and student council president.

Horace Mann Wins High Ratings in Three Events

More than three thousand high school students attended the spring contests held at the College last Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, in music, commerce, speech and drama. Students or groups of students who received Rating I will go to Columbia to enter the state contests.

Between the highly competitive contests in which they participated, students surveyed the campus and inspected the College buildings. Many of the visiting students plan to attend the College after graduation from the local high schools.

Results from the contest show that Horace Mann, the College laboratory school, has three groups certified to enter the state contests, having received Rating I. In music the Girls Glee Club and Girls Quartette will go to Columbia, April 30. In drama, the play "Underworld" is certified to enter on May 6 or 7.

Five Hundred Attend Military Ball, April 2

Colorful decorations in a military theme and the sweet music of Lee Barron and his orchestra combined to make a success of the first Military Ball, held April 2, in the main gymnasium.

Approximately five hundred guests were present. Plans are already underway for a similar, but bigger, ball next year.

THE COLLEGE OATH

"We will never bring disgrace to this, our College, by any act of cowardice or dishonesty. We will fight for the ideals and sacred things of the College. We will revere and obey the College laws and do our best to incite a like respect and reverence in others. We will transmit this College to those who come after us, greater, better, and more beautiful than it was transmitted to us."

INTERNSHIP IS IMPORTANT

In the March issue of The Educational Forum, published monthly by Kappa Delta Pi, is an article by Dr. Clifford L. Bishop, chairman of the education department.

Entitled "The Future of Teacher Internship," Dr. Bishop's article is based on a recent study of internship for teachers. Thirty-six specialists in teacher education, one hundred and seven school supervisors with experience in internship, and a group of fifty-nine representatives of college and universities that had participated in internship for teachers took part in the study. Of his group eighty-three per cent of the institutions, ninety-eight per cent of the school supervisors, and one hundred percent of the specialists believed that it is possible to overcome all difficulties and limitations of internship and believed internship for teachers has a worthwhile future.

Improvements for the present program of internship were suggested by representatives of institutions and by supervisors. The institutions suggested a more careful supervision of interns, the blocking of other required courses, a sufficient staff and personnel, more credit for internship and payment of interns.

Supervisors suggested that the system could be improved by offering varied experiences for the intern at various levels, a longer period of observation, better subject matter knowledge and many others.

The institutions active in this work plan to extend and broaden their programs of internship, and to perfect their present plans.

In conclusion Dr. Bishop says, "Internship as an important contribution to make to teacher preparation — according to the three groups studied, internship can be a success and must be success to broaden the patterns of teacher education and to care for the needs of the prospective teacher — The task ahead is not an easy one but challenging one. It is worthy of careful consideration."

LET'S MAKE IT TRADITIONAL

One day soon, College students may drop their books, forget reports and classes for a day, and stay out doors, listening to the birds sing, feeling the warm sunshine, enjoying the breezes that spring brings. Before you go to sleep—wait minute! There's not a minute to be wasted!

Under the direction of Robert Mann, chairman of the Senate committee for Clean-up Day, work must be done. With the cooperation of all students and organizations on the campus, assigned areas will be cleaned.

Most students enrolled in the College have lived here for nearly a full school term. Most students like the campus to be clean. It is their responsibility to help make it that way.

After the work and cleaning will come relaxation. A picnic will be held in College park with the best of food. Later a dance with the best of music will complete the day.

Sponsored by the Student Senate, Clean-up Day each spring may become an annual tradition. Walkout Day is in the fall. The latter is known as its unusual, yet gay, events from the time the first silvery note of the bell is heard until the time he says "good night." The day is filled with snake dancing, with frosh going through all kinds of antics, with dancing on street corners, with belt men and show mixups, with sacrifices to the gods of the heart-shaped College pond, with talented students performing at the afternoon stage show, and finally with the evening of dancing.

Will the proposed Clean-up Day become such an annual tradition of the College? Will it be known as the day when students give the campus "new beauty shop" appearance and later celebrate its grooming at a picnic and dance? It can become a tradition if each student is responsible for his share in campus improvement. Let's work hard, eat a great deal at the picnic, dance to soft music in the evening, and be proud of our share in making the College campus more beautiful.

It Is Customary!

When a man wishes to have a date with a woman he should call her at least several hours, preferably several days, before the time of the engagement. It is considered poor taste to ask a woman for a date only a short time in advance.

When a man calls a woman for a date, the invitation should be stated in such a way that it will be equally easy for her to accept or to refuse. It is often well for him to mention the form of entertainment he has in mind. If an engagement has been made some time in advance, the man should call again to avoid any misunderstanding.

It is inexcusable for either the man or the woman to break a date without a very urgent reason. "Trumped up" excuses are seldom believed and thus a reflection is cast upon the truthfulness of the person, as well as upon his consideration for the rights of others.

"Blind dates" are seldom satisfactory and are poor taste. Usually there is a mutual friend who will see that introductions are made before the time for the date. If you have taken a "blind date" and are disappointed, you are honor-bound to see that your companion has an enjoyable time.

A man may ask the woman her wishes, but it is best for him to have some plan in mind for her entertainment. This does not mean that he must always spend money, for many interesting things can be done without a great outlay of money.

A woman should, at all times, be considerate of a man's pocketbook. Few men students are financially able to provide very elaborate or expensive entertainment. A game of cards or some other form of inexpensive entertainment will often make a dull evening into a very interesting one.

Women students may ask a man into their home after a date if they so desire. Consideration for her

Jeanne Taylor Enjoys Teaching Experiences

Dr. Harry Dildine, of the social science department, and Mrs. Dildine recently received a letter from Miss Jeanne K. Taylor who is teaching in Maebashi, Japan. Miss Taylor is a graduate of the College, Class of '48.

In her letter Miss Taylor described Maebashi as follows: "Maebashi is in the Tonegawa valley surrounded by beautiful mountains which delight us with their many colors. A few days back there was snow in the mountains and Mount Asama was gorgeous with its snow cap against a brilliant blue sky."

Miss Taylor wrote that the narcissus in front of the school had budded and that the roses were blooming.

"The boys' school where we are teaching on Fridays," writes Miss Taylor, "is called Nijima Gakuen and is a junior high school of 188 boys. It was just begun last year. We have to leave home at 6:20 a.m. and do not get back until 5 p.m. It is rather awkward to get to, but we want to teach there. I have two seventh grade classes and the eighth."

After obtaining ideas from the young students, a general discussion on recreation was held.

Members of the panel were Marlyn Anderson, Bette McKown, Naomi Smith and Elizabeth Frink.

March 29 marked a social meeting for the Intermediate Club. Square dancing provided the entertainment in the Horace Mann gymnasium.

After the square dancing, a business meeting was held. Action is being taken to rewrite the constitution of the club. Election of officers will take place at the next meeting.

Four Teachers Attend State Council Meeting

Dr. John Harr, chairman of the social science department, has announced that the State Council for Social Study Teachers met April 8-9, at Columbia. Dr. Harr, Mr. John Taylor, Miss Rachel Taul, and Mr. Leslie White of the College faculty attended.

Dr. Harr is the retiring president of the Council, having served in that capacity for two years. Because of a "lame duck" amendment he had been retained in office for an additional year.

Mr. Taylor was one of the principal speakers at the conference. His talk dealt with the subject of "Youth and the Social Sciences."

The main feature of the Council program was the creation of a model United Nations Assembly for the purpose of amending the charter. Panel discussions on the questions of "Teaching Controversial Issues" and "Using Biography and Historical Novels in Teaching History" were debated.

Nicholas Marinos Gives Talk on Art of Greece

Nicholas Marinos, in a talk on the art of Greece before Miss Olive DeLuce's class in history and appreciation of art, said that the Parthenon is in the only climate it could be in to make it the impressive edifice it is.

With the deep blue Grecian sky framing its broken yet majestic columns on the uppermost peak of the Acropolis, the Parthenon in Athens, Greece, has never been successfully duplicated elsewhere.

In foggy, gloomy London, for example, such a monument would be beautiful but could never equal the real structure, Nicholas explained.

To give a picture of the Parthenon, Nicholas said it is three-fourths as long as the Horace Mann building and is perhaps a little taller. When the Parthenon was being constructed and decorated the painters were paid twice the amount paid the architects though the lines are most simple and no unnecessary ornaments are used.

Mrs. Canton Is Judge During Tri-State Contest

Mrs. Ramona Canton, chairman of the speech department, was a judge at the Tri-State contests at the Tarkio high school, Friday, March 18.

Wednesday, March 23, Mrs. Canton acted as judge of the district speech contests for Southwest Iowa. Speakers from twenty schools participated in the contests. Eight associate judges assisted Mrs. Canton.

The Stroller

The Stroller went for a walk the other day just to look at the campus. Beginning down by President Jones' residence, he looked at the crocuses in bloom, purple, yellow, and white.

Coming up the long walk, he saw all the cars around the main building and wondered whether someday Maree Merenghi, Nicki Ann Wohlford, and Ted Francis Butthers will look at a picture of that scene and say, "Weren't those old '49 Pontiacs and Buicks awful?"

On the left, the Stroller could hardly see the gymnasium because of all the girls and fellows playing tennis. Among them were Patty Asman, Janet Andler, Lloyd Weichinger, Irma Jensen, Joan Miller, and Bill Shettle.

Senators Are Concerned With Welfare of Students

Revision of the Student Handbook, redecoration of the lounge, and the promotion of a campus safety program are some of the major activities of the Student Senate in their endeavors to accomplish their main purpose—to work for the welfare of the student body as a whole and to forget organizational differences through class representation.

In the spring, the revised Student Handbook containing the rules and regulations for student organizations is expected to be ready.

Careful Driving Is Desired

Safety signs have already been posted at strategic spots around the campus. Drivers are asked to drive slowly and carefully. Reckless drivers are reported to the Senate. Thus an effort is being made to regulate traffic through the work of the students themselves. The painting and redecorating of the lounge has also been an important contribution.

Last summer, in the belief that students should have more social life, the Senate sponsored a Summer Jamboree. It was a student and faculty all-school affair. It began in the afternoon with a ball game, continued in the evening with a picnic in College Park, and ended with a dance that night on the tennis courts. The Jamboree may be made an annual affair. Since most of the organizations are inactive in the summer months, this plan would help to provide for the social welfare of the many students who attend summer school.

Polly Cramer Is New Alpha Sigma President

Polly Cramer was installed Wednesday night, March 17, as president of Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority for the coming year.

The formal installation ceremony took place at the regular meeting when Pat Smith was hostess at the home of her parents. Candlelight and soft music added to the impressive scene when each girl took her oath of office.

Displaced Personnel Students from foreign countries are coming to many American colleges with their entire expenses paid for one year. The President has asked the Senate members to consider the idea for this College.

Take Care of Routine Business

In addition to these special projects, the Senate has a great many routine matters to take care of. They vote on all requisitions and grant permission for the use of rooms and the Bearcat Den by various organizations for certain dates. They give permission for the use of Den equipment; they grant permission for the privilege of running concessions at games; they grant permission to all those who wish to solicit on the campus; and they also grant permission to organizations to sponsor after-game dances.

Cheer-leader try-outs are judged by a Senate committee. The Senate supplies judges for all major school elections and takes care of the counting of the votes. They select the records for the Den. Each year they appoint a social chairman.

Eligibility of candidates for all major offices must be checked by the Senate. Walk-Out Day plans are made by the senior members of the Senate.

The Bearcats have a much improved track team. Evidence of this is proved by the fact that the team had men place in the distance events and the hurdles. Mick Anderson won the two mile event and placed in the mile; Bill Burnham won the low hurdles and placed in the highs. This is the first time the team has placed in these events in recent years.

Al Henningsen was placed on the second all M. I. A. team for the 1948-49 basketball season. Springfield dominated the first team selections.

Maury Geist proved himself by taking the badminton singles tournament. Maury went through the tourney quite easily, losing only one game.

The golf season is getting into full swing. Why not take a trip out to the local course and use the facilities the College has provided for you? Physical education advocates say it is a good game for later life and it undoubtedly increases one's vocabulary.

The football coaches of the M. I. A. conference will do well to stock up heavily on aspirin tablets for next season; instead of having to contend with just Marv Weed, crushing fullback, they'll also have to meet his brother.

Football fans should not be surprised to see new type of defense next year—a two man line with nine men backing it up just in case a ball carrier happens to slip by the Weed brothers.

Another session of "Recreation Nights" has been run off successfully. Hundreds of the students, and faculty as well, have enjoyed the facilities offered each Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday. A number of tournaments were run off along with the swimming and numerous other activities.

April 14 will be your first opportunity to see the Bearcat lineups in action. The M. I. A. indoor champs will engage Peru in a dual meet.

NOTICE!

Spring football practice will be held for candidates for the center, end and quarterback positions. Beginning practice will be announced within the next few days.
